

SPAIN

If you're visiting Spain for the first time, be warned: this is a country that fast becomes an addiction. You might intend to come just for a beach holiday, a walking tour or a city break, but before you know it you'll find yourself hooked by something quite different. Even in the bestknown places to visit, from Madrid's hippest restaurants to Ibiza's monumental nightclubs, there are genuinely surprising attractions at every turn.

"We travel not to escape life but for life not to escape us."
